"Grace4All"

From the Pastor's Desk

With Mother's Day in May and Father's Day in June, let us give thanks for the parents that guided and raised us. Being Parents and raising children is a rewarding challenge with its difficulties and blessings. I have listed some great advice points from Keith Zafren (that I also added to) for all parents, from the Great Dad's Project:

Whether catching your child in a lie or just needing to talk to them, remember a calm demeanor invites communication and an honest response.

2. Reinforce the importance of character. Tell your children that one of the most important actions you desire for them is character. This is not always easy. We need to teach them how to live Godly character out: by word and example and by beginning with a Christ like attitude.

3. Provide real opportunities to talk. That means we as fathers (and parents in general) need to stop doing all the talking (I know it's hard). Let them talk, and don't interrupt. Make time to listen. Don't say "not now—later." Rather when your kids want to talk (especially teenagers), stop whatever you're doing and listen.

4. Celebrate every glimpse of the character you wish to shape.

As dads and parents we are called to discipline our children and teach them a Godly lifestyle; however, let's not stop there. Let us celebrate their wins, big and small. Let's praise and thank them for doing the chores, and working hard on that school project or test. Let us be fathers that our children want to be with and talk to. Celebrating their lives is a great way to start.

Direct your children onto the right path, and when they are older, they will not leave it. Proverbs 22:6 (NLT)

Grace, Pastor Doug

Benin: Young Christian Rejects voodoo Ritual

When Michelle, a college student, refused to participate in a voodoo ritual, her family abused and rejected her. On March 18, 2025, Michelle was at church when her mother and sister came in and urged her to come home. Not knowing what they wanted, Michelle left with them and went home to find her father performing an occultic ritual with a voodoo leader. The leader held a blade, covered with an allegedly magic powder to drive away a spirit of death, that he wanted to cut her with. The rest of the family had already performed the ritual, but Michelle refused and ran to her pastor's wife for counsel. When Michelle returned home, her father told her she was no longer his daughter and he would no longer pay her living expenses. He also beat her and forbade her from attending church. Church leaders request prayer that her family will turn to Christ and that Michelle and the Christians supporting her will have peace and wisdom.
